

Dear OLLI Members,

The flyer below is from one of OLLI's partners within Temple University, that is engaging in very important research. We hope you will consider participating.

OLLI Staff

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PARTICIPATING IN RESEARCH?

We conduct non-invasive research (i.e., NO medications, NO needles, etc.) with older adults (65+) with a range of cognitive abilities, including healthy cognition, mild cognitive impairment, and dementia.

Why participate?

- Engage in stimulating activities - participants do tasks that challenge their thinking with our fun study team
- Learn more about your memory, thinking, and aging - we can provide you with feedback about your performance at the end of the study
- You will be compensated for your time and travel costs - we pay participants for the time they spend with us and provide some funds for travel (parking, public transportation, etc.)
- Help us to improve clinical care - you will help us learn how to improve our care of older adults.

Who are we?

Our group is led by Tania Giovannetti, Ph.D., ABPP-CN, a licensed and board-certified clinical neuropsychologist, and includes knowledgeable and friendly graduate and staff researchers and undergraduate students at Temple.

We are located in the Temple University Psychology Department and our research focuses on understanding and improving everyday functioning in older adults.

Our goal is to create an active community of older adults and academics in Philadelphia to learn from each other and improve the lives of older adults.
